To write well and be well read

Below:

Ciara Green gets into a copy of "Lord of the Flies".

The Benson Heart

If Tech classes use the hands,
and Math and Science challenge the head,
then English classes explore the heart.

Reading launches trips around the world, back in time---

Writing spirals us into characters, ideas, ourselves---

Talking plunges us into pools of laughter, thought, and care.

Above:

Author T.C. Boyle reads from his book, "Shane" to Benson's english classes through the "Writers in the Classroom Program".

Above:

Karen Soohoo checks in copies of "The Catcher in the Rye" in the library.

Right:

Mrs. Black discusses the controversial classic, "Huck Finn", with her junior english class.

Health and Physical Education

Fitness for Life

Health & PE at Benson

The goal of the Physical Education program is the development of a physically-educated person, one who has learned skills necessary to perform a variety of physical activities; is physically fit; participates regularly in physical activity; knows the benefits from involvement in physical activity and values physical activity and its contributions to a healthy lifestyle. Physical Education is a valuable part of developing the whole child. Physical Education supports and integrates many other curricular ideas into its curriculum.

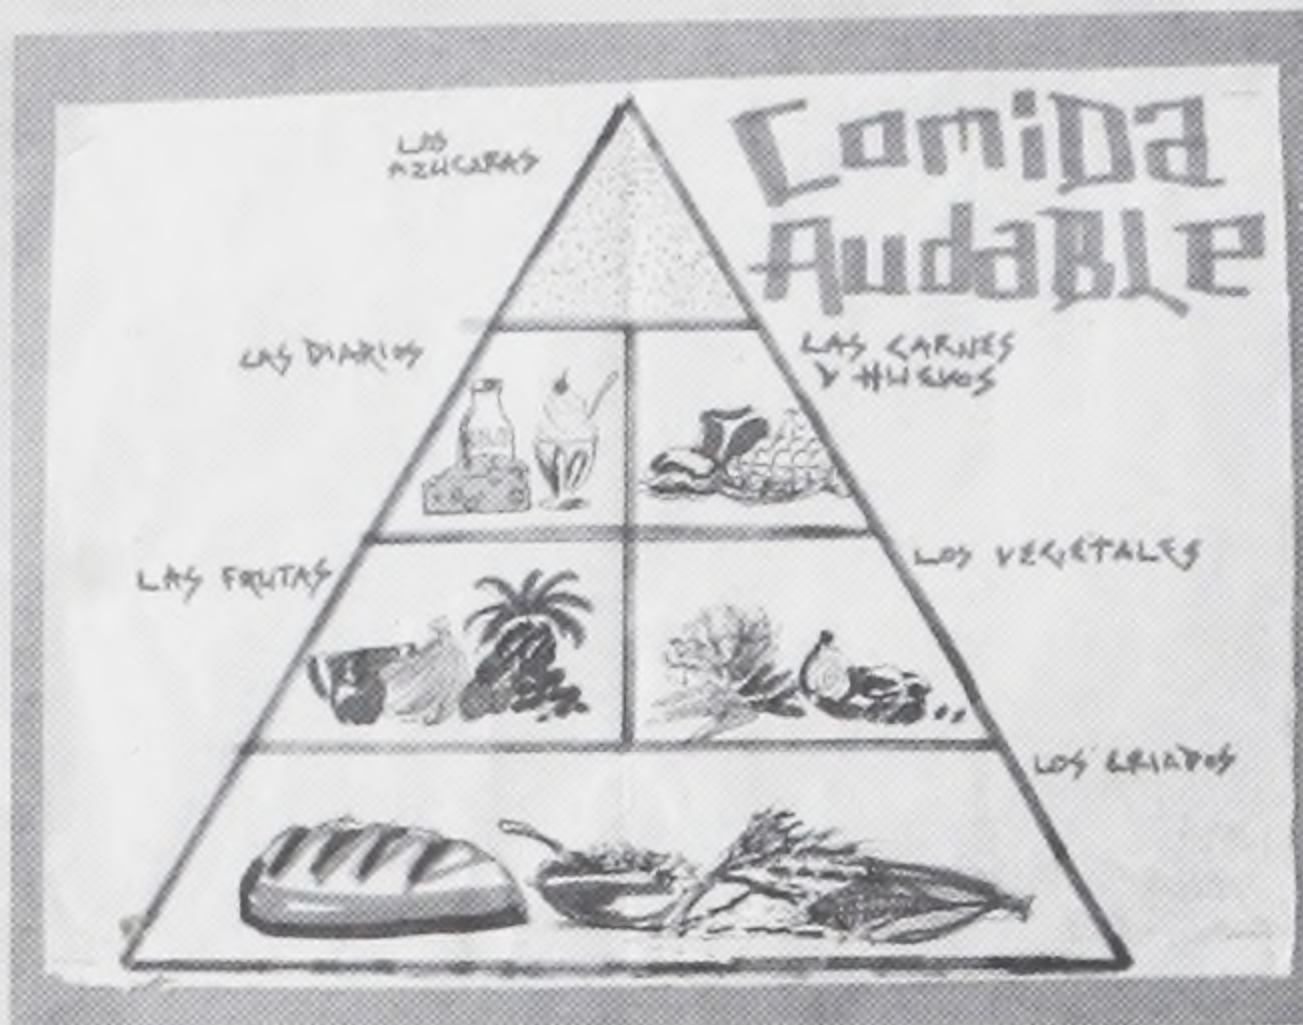

Below: Running the mile was never a fun exercise, but having your friends there makes it that much easier.

Left: Trust me, ice skating is not as easy as it looks!

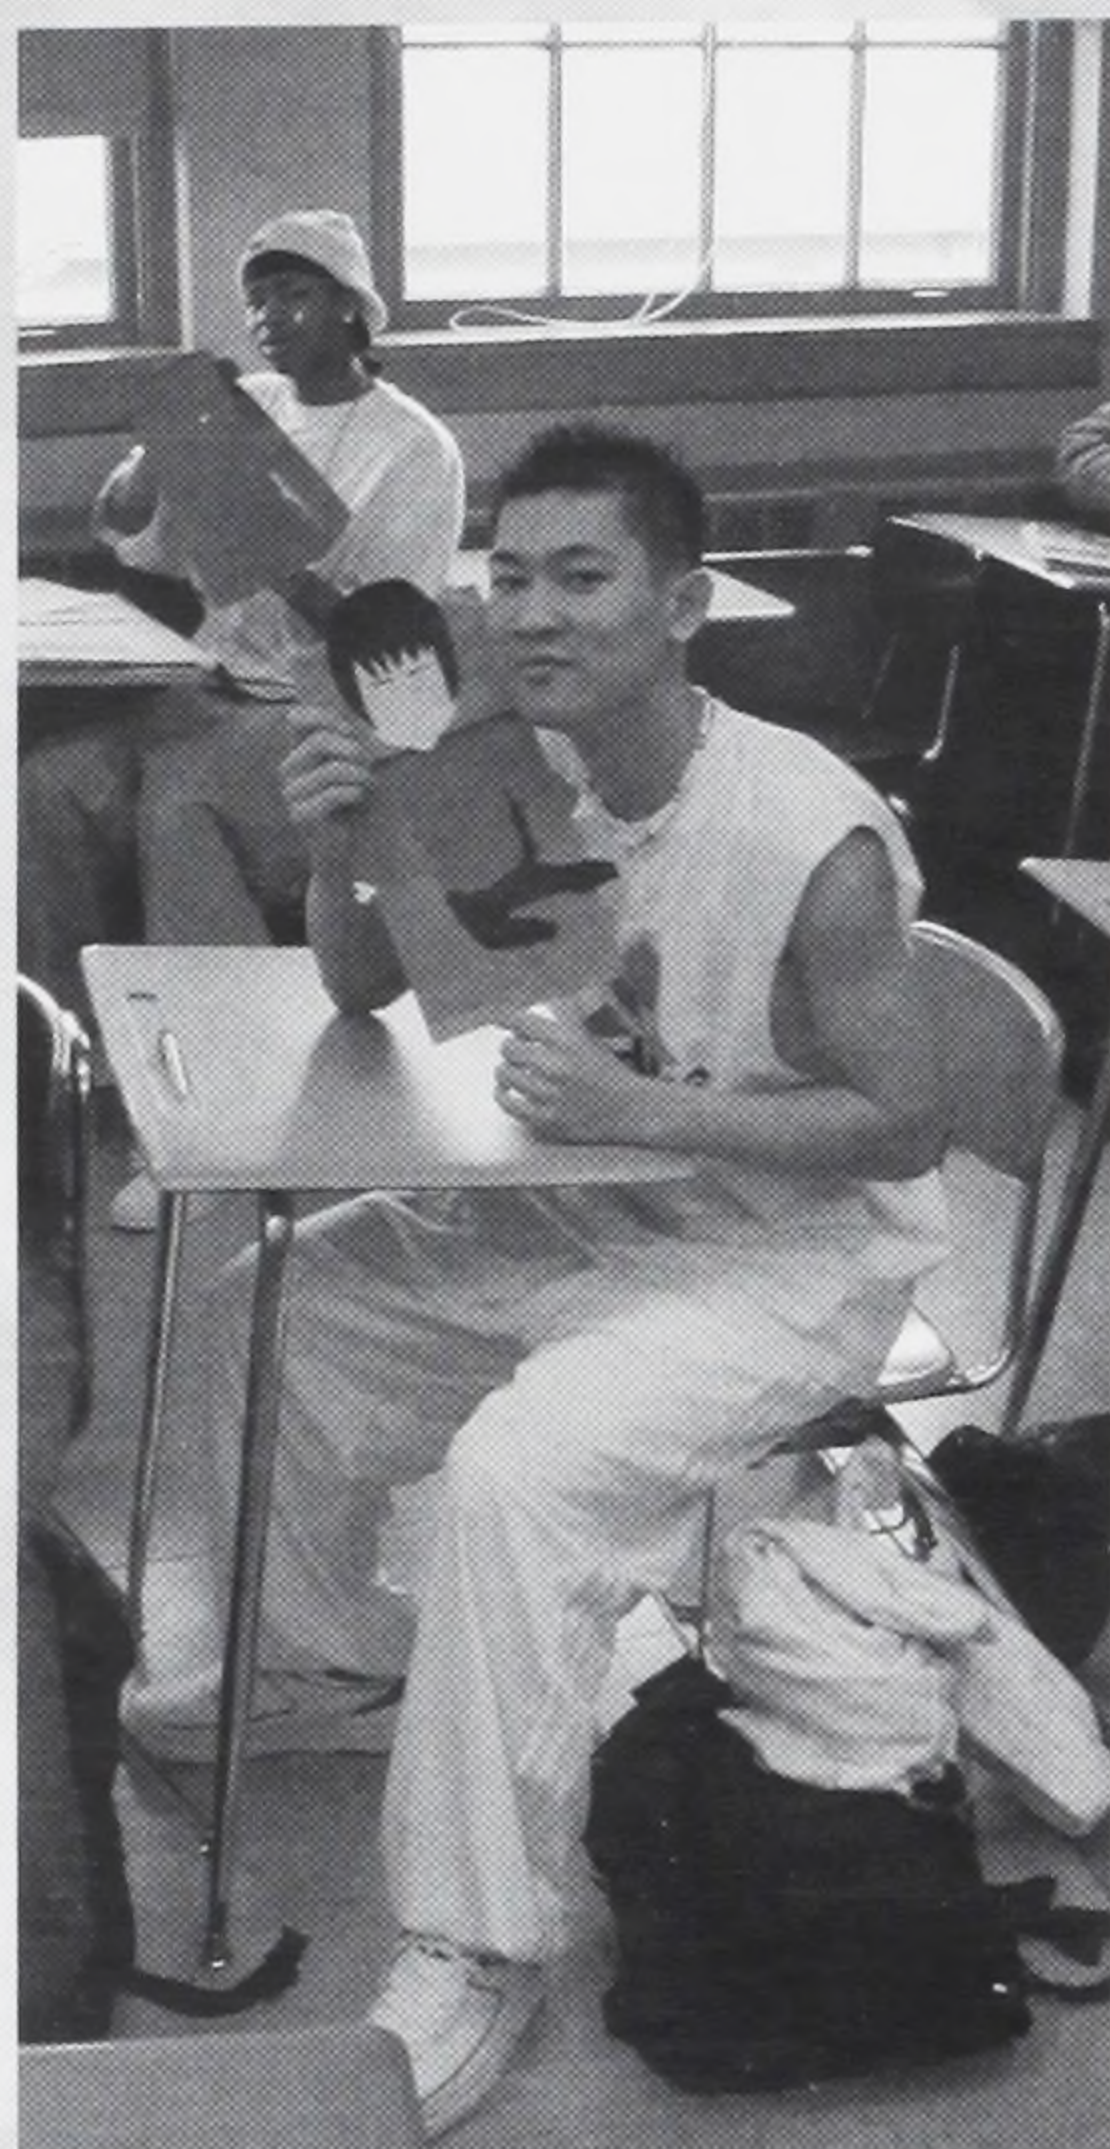

Above: Trust is the major idea of this exercise, if one person lets go of the rope, then everybody falls.

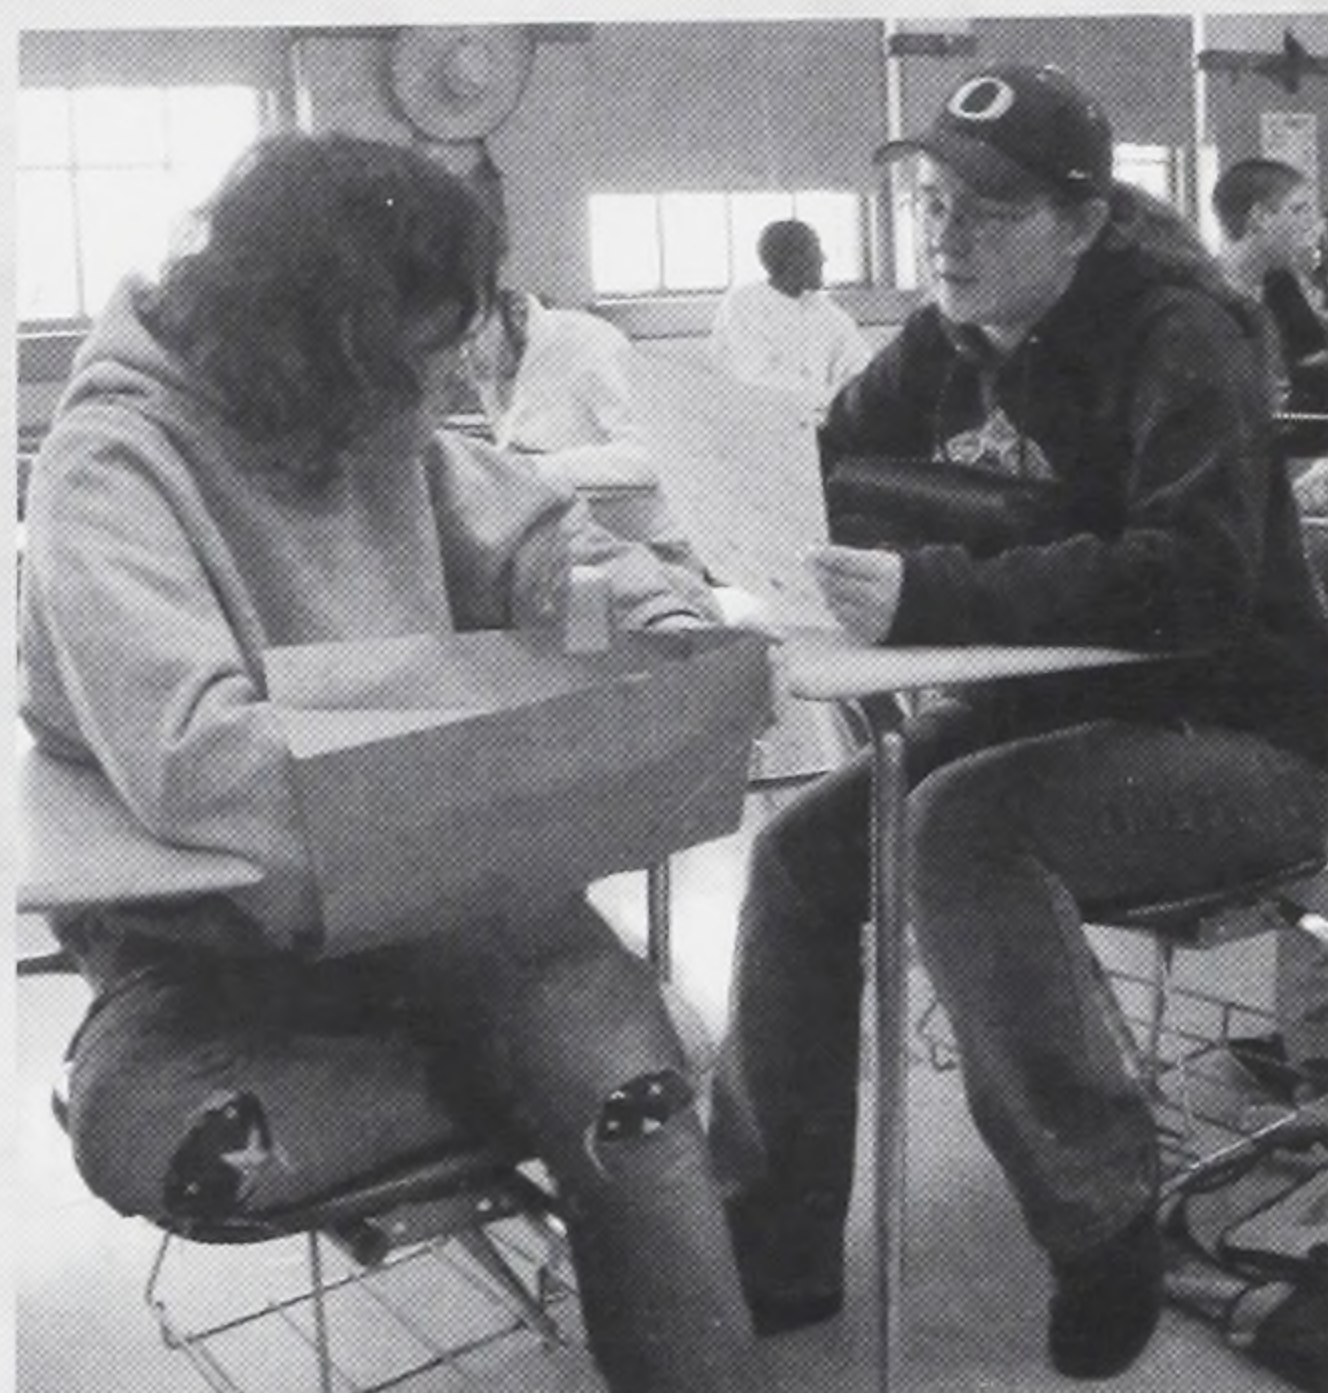

Below:

Xiao Chan shows off the puppet he made for spanish class.

Exploring Different Ways To Communicate

Languages at Benson

Spanish class focuses on communicating in espanol through the four basic concepts of speaking, listening, reading, and writing. Students will gain a deep understanding and an appreciation for cultural diversity of Spanish speaking nations. Spanish literature, culture, and geography are stressed in all assignments.

Learning French, an important language in Canada, Europe, Africa, Southeast Asia and elsewhere, also improves one's English, which gained much vocabulary from French, including grammar terms. Benson students are encouraged to appreciate French connections to their majors regarding medical research, engineering, architecture, transportation, etc.

Mathematics

Adding it All Up

Mathematics at Benson

Benson offers algebra, geometry, advanced algebra, pre-calculus and calculus. In algebra, students are introduced to working with numbers, going beyond arithmetic. Geometry introduces students to working with shapes. Advanced algebra and pre-calculus offers the students a chance to look at more advanced work, while calculus students look at how things change with relation to each other.

Activity 1 Exploring Taxidistances

Part I: The taxidistance from a central terminal

Assume that all taxis leave for their destinations from a central terminal at point  $O(0, 0)$ .

1. Draw the six destination points in a taxicab grid, as shown in the diagram at right. Label the points A through F and give their coordinates.

2. Make a table. Find the taxidistance from O to each of the six destination points. (Make sure that you have found the smallest number of blocks in each case.) Copy and complete the table below.

Science at Benson

Science at Benson is highly looked upon. We have many diverse class for every interest. There are basic classes like biology and chemistry to challenging classes such as physics. There is also a honors program for those who want to learn more. Benson also has a special science class for the H.O.S.A students called Anatomy and Phisology. The science department also participates in three competitions: Science Bowl, Ocean Bowl, and Brain Bowl. We also participate in two science fairs: Oregon Junior Academy of Science Competition and Northwest Science Expo. Students and teachers also take three to four overnight trips to Corvallis for enrichment in Biochemistry, Chemical Engineering, and Oceanography. Benson thrives on its science programs.

Social Sciences

Information on the world is just a question away!

Social Sciences at Benson

Social science classes at Benson include Global Studies, U.S. History, Government, and Economics. During their sophomore year, students take global studies which is a look into world history and how it effects our lives today. As juniors, students take U.S. history which is an in depth look into the history of our country. During senior year, students take two social science classes, Government and Economics. These are both half year classes. In Government, students study the make-up and history of the government in the United States. In Economics, students learn how the economy changes and how we deal with it every day. These social science classes give students the chance to learn about things outside of the normal subjects.

"This season, the team showed many positive signs. The players worked hard all year and the team played well. Throughout the year, players matured which brought life to the team. The one thing that would have made this season better would have been more wins. Most of our loses were by a few points and we ran out of time. Over all, I'm pretty happy with the team this season." -Coach Bilodeau

"Completely Captivating"

On her way to a medical career, JinLi has participated in a variety of programs in the health field. She is a member of the Health Occupations Students of America, through which she has volunteered with the OHSU respiratory therapy department, Mt. St. Joseph Care Facility, the Interstate Kaiser Permanente Obstetrics/Gynecology department, a dental office, American Medical Response paramedics and the Legacy Emanuel Emergency Room. JinLi has also served as a Planned Parenthood Teen Council member and an I.G.N.T.E. Peer Mentor, and volunteered at Gigi Salon & Spa. She plays varsity tennis and enjoys arts and crafts, photography and cooking. Next year JinLi will attend Portland State University and major in science before attending medical school. She hopes to pursue a career as a dermatologist.

Bridge Builders

The Bridge Builders' Rites of Passage Program seeks to guide adolescents to understand who they are, what real maturity is, and what they must do to achieve this status. The programs help prepare our youth by giving them a clear view of what an adult's obligations are so that they may carry this forward and pass it on to others now and in generations to come.

THE BRIDGE BUILDER

By William A. Droomgale

An old man going a lone highway
Came to the evening cold and gray
To a chasm, vast and wide and steep
With waters rolling cold and deep.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim
The sullen stresm had no Fears for him
But he crossed when safe on the other side
And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man", said a fellow pilgrim near.
"You're wasting your strength with buiding here.
Your journey will end at the ending day
And you never again must pass this way.
You've crossed the chasm vast and wide
Why build you this bridge at eventide?"
The old man lifted his old, gray head.
"In the path I have come," he said.
"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet must pass this way
The chasm that was nought to me
A pitfall to that fair haired youth may be
He, too, must cross the twilight dim
Good friend, I'm building this bridge for him"

H O S A

Dental Assisting

This program provides entry-level job skills as a dental assistant. Clinical experience at various dental practices is concurrent with classroom theory and hands on training which allows students to make realistic career decisions.

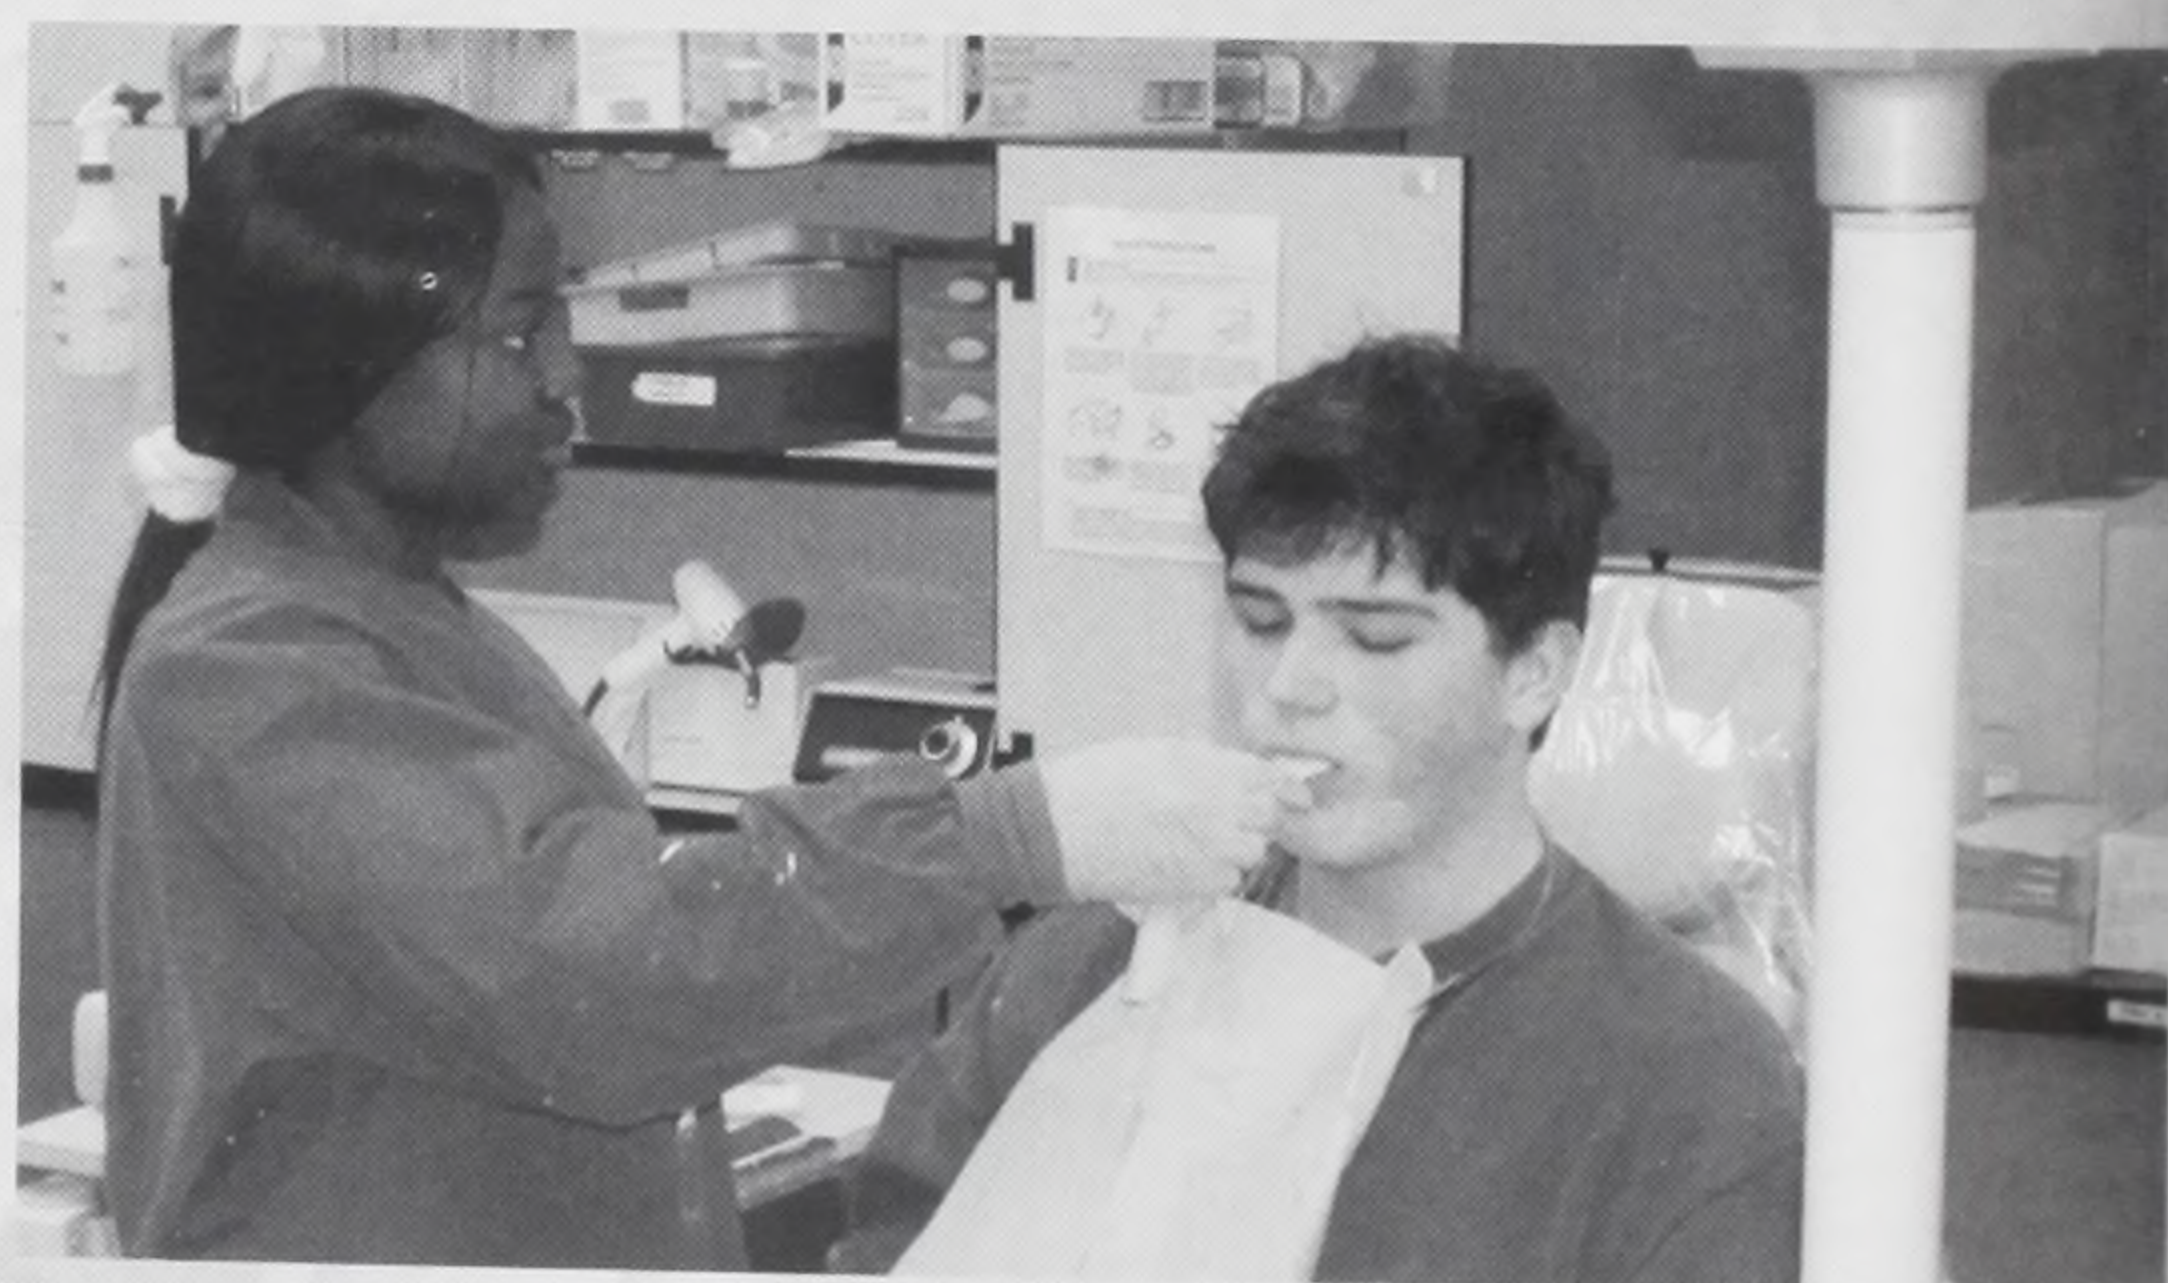

Right: Faithfully cleaning teeth, Ashley Berry takes her time making sure that the teeth are perfect.

Below: Helen Harison dilligently brightens each tooth carefully and thoroughly.

Above: Menely and Naomi Baily restoring decayed teeth to their original and healthy state.

Lifespan Nursing

This course provides instruction in a Nursing Assistant program. It continues with human development from conception to death and an introduction to psychology. Throughout the year, students are trained as peer-educators and provide workshops on health-related subjects in the school and community.

Above: Anna Boyun and Othella Govan conduct a vision screening.

EMS/Public Health

An introduction to Emergency medicine and health issues and disparities in different populations are what this course offers. Students are certified as CPR instructors and Oregon First Responders. Clinical experience includes emergency room shifts, an ambulance shift, teaching CPR to others, public health projects, and conducting workshops. You can also be eligible for 3 college credits through PCC.

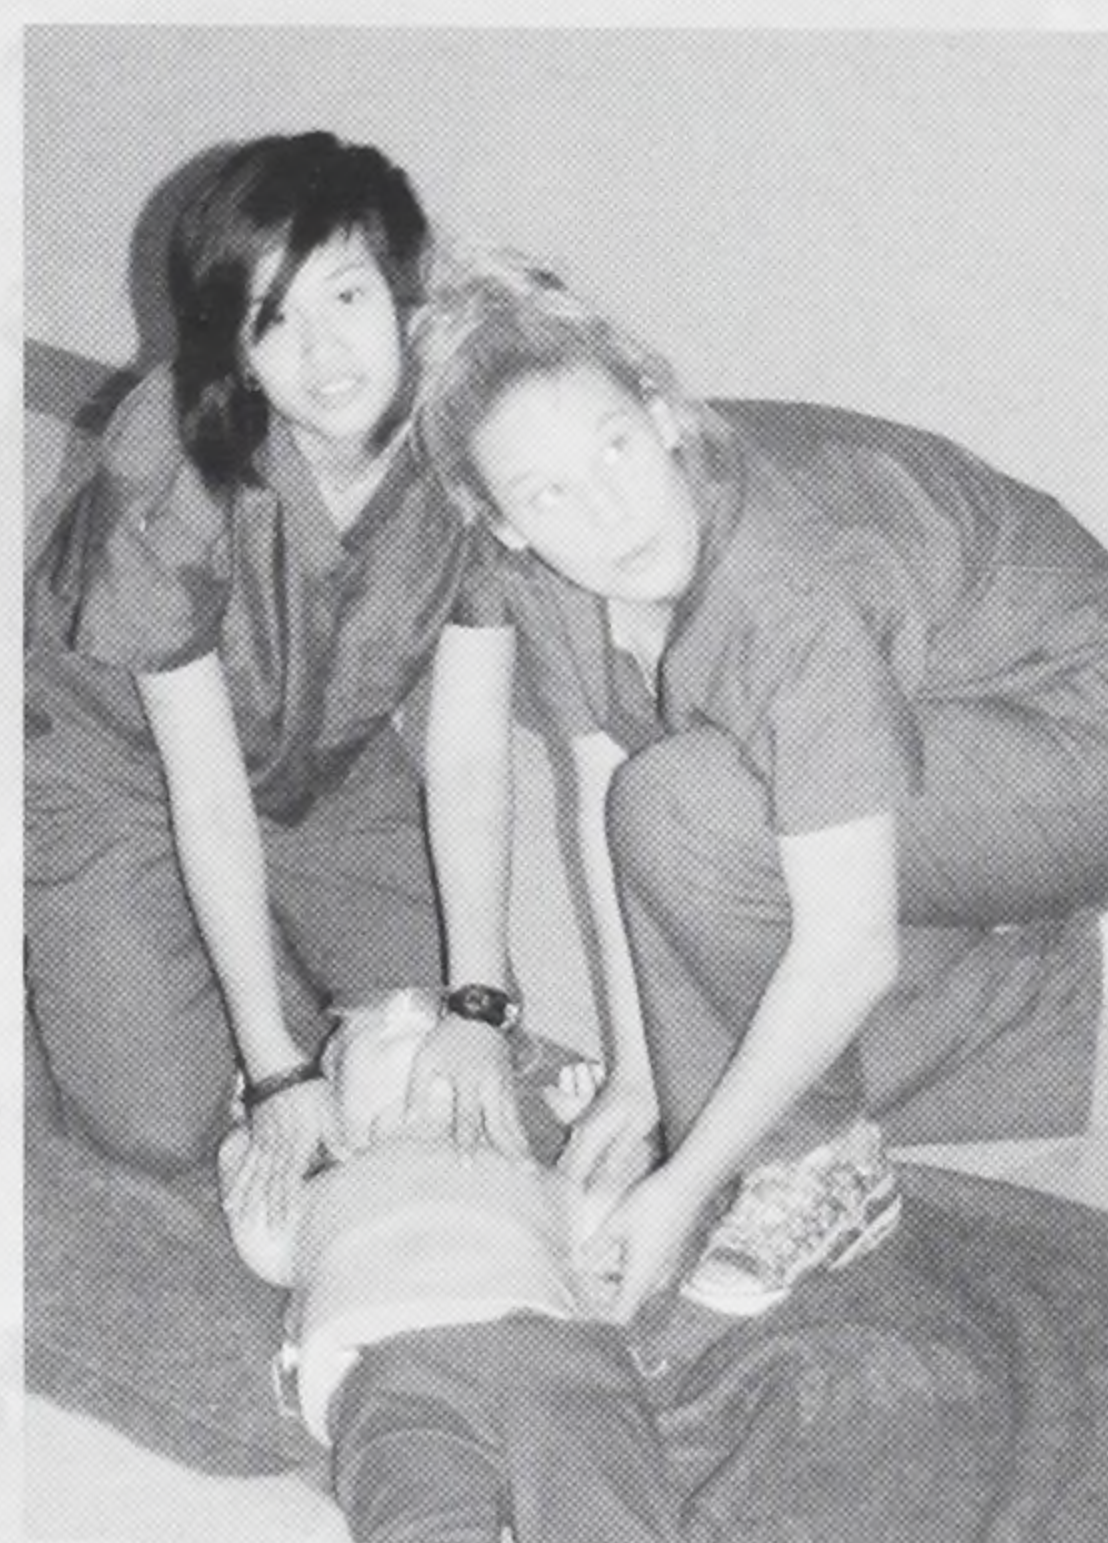

Right: Jocelyn Ram and Alyssa Moyer practice immobilizing a trauma victim.

Above: EMT clones ready for their ambulance ride-along.

Medical/Diagnostic

Theory and skill development in medical office management are presented in class. Individualized selected experiences in health careers allow students the opportunity to gain entry level skills as well as make informed college and career choices. Community service projects are incorporated into the curriculum and advanced skills in collaboration and organization.

Architectural Drafting

In Architecture you must have the creative juices, the ability to imagine something and then put it onto paper, oh yeah a pencil might be helpful too. Just imagine, you put this spectacular design on paper, it becomes reality. But there are a lot of ups and downs coming into this major. You have to realize that your first draft is never your last, it isn't even close. You must be able to design a structure that is both economical and aesthetically pleasing; otherwise what will purpose will it serve. But once a project is finished you realize that all the ups and downs and the mile-stones were worth it because you see your imagination on paper. Thought we may have said, "Why did we go into this major? It is so hard." In the end you get to see something that your mind created and you see the artistic ability that you had deep inside you. Remember, "It was worth it."

KBPS had an exiting year in 2004-05 starting with the addition of Benson Alum Bill Cooper (72) as new station manager. Changes included the return of live broadcasts of football and basetball games. We were able to have live coverage of the 2004 election, with our students doing interviews of candidates and gathering returns. We also had live coverage of Tech Show for the first time since 1993. We sent 5 students to the AP State Conference for the first time in Benson history.

The junior communications class working on their digital photo projects. They are also working on their Pagemaker projects and adding the final touches to their personal web pages. The junior class has a half year of photo & video and a half year of desktop publishing and web design.

Communications

Desktop Publishing & Web Design

Camera ready?
A communications student video taping people in the hallway for the new school web site. In the new web site, they have included video clips of what Benson is all about. This footage is also used in the end of the year video.

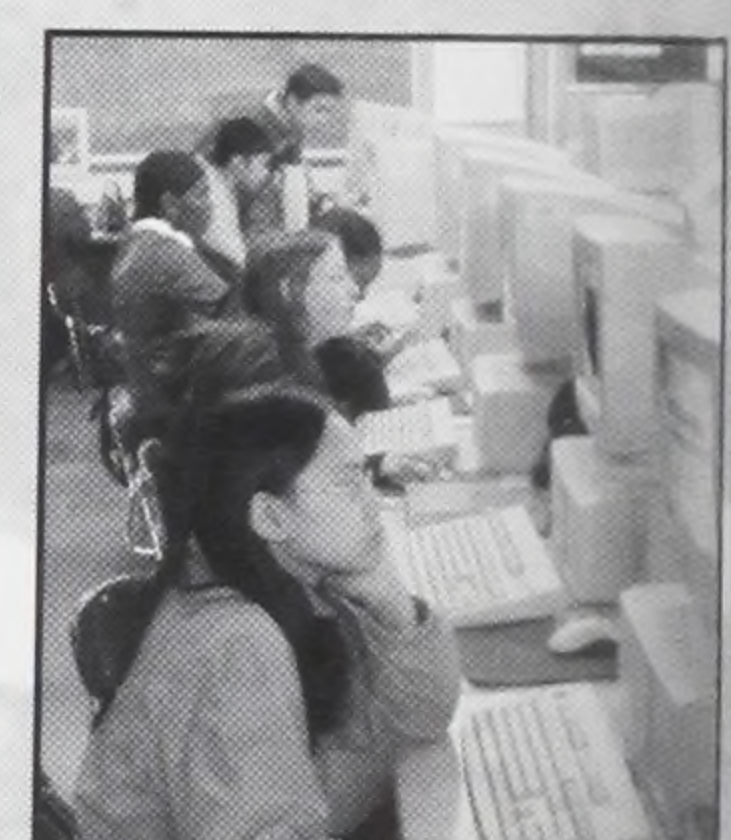

Surfin' the web..
Senior Nick Clark is busy working on his web page for the class. Some students have their work published on the web for the whole world to see.

Desktop publishing and web design is a whole year course where students enhance their skills in HTML and creating publications. Their various projects include business cards, memo pads, school flyers, and other Pagemaker projects. With the HTML, students work on various pages including the schools web site, teacher web sites, and web sites for people outside of the school.

Can he fix it?
Senior David Green is working to figure out what he is doing wrong with his work for his class project. Maybe next time he should ask for some help.

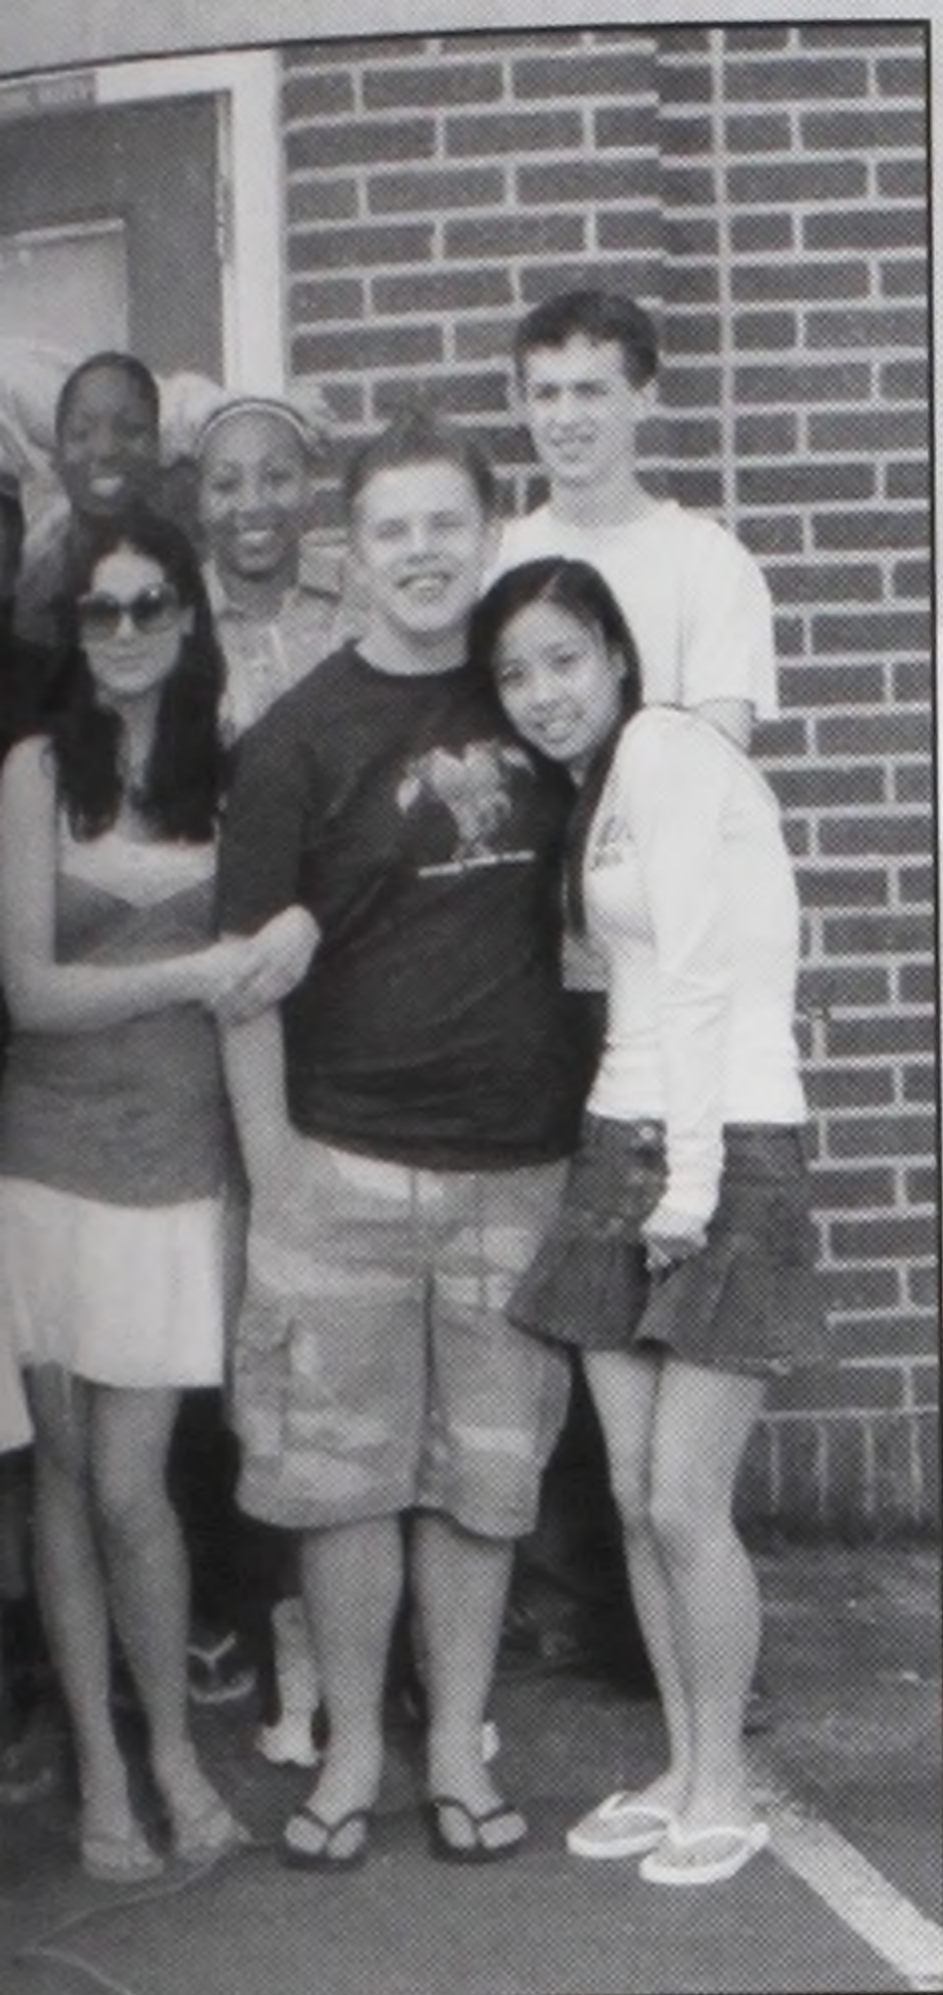

Hard at work!
The junior communications class working hard on their various projects which include PowerPoint Presentations, HTML and web pages, along with some Pagemaker projects thrown into the mix.

SkillsUSA

Below:

In the junior communications class, half of the year is spent in Photography & Video. During this class, students learn the basics in taking and developing pictures, computer editing, and manual editing. They also learn how to operate a digital video camera and how to edit videos on the computer.

Photo & Video

Check the prints... Senior Deidra Coleman is checking the exposure of her picture. Too much exposure and the picture will be too dark. Not enough, the picture is too light.

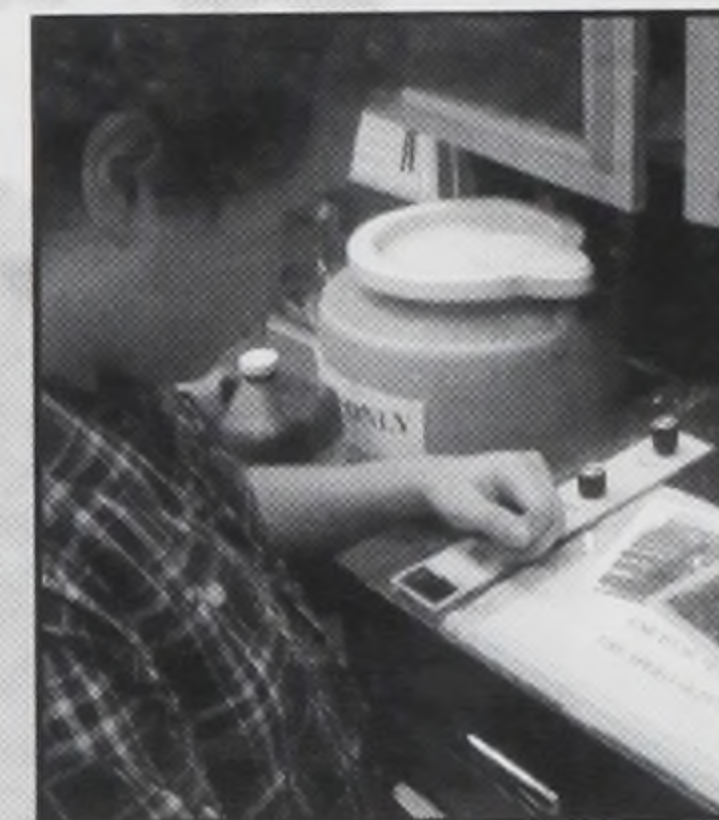

Two parts solution... three parts water. Seniors Simon Reta and Dan Dean preparing the needed photo processing solution. This is the most important step when developing pictures.

What is Photo & Video?
This is a class where juniors and seniors learn the art of taking pictures and the process of developing their own film. They also learn how to use photo editing programs on the computer to enhance or change pictures. They also learn how to operate a digital video camera and work with video editing programs to produce many videos and the end of the year video which the whole school sees.

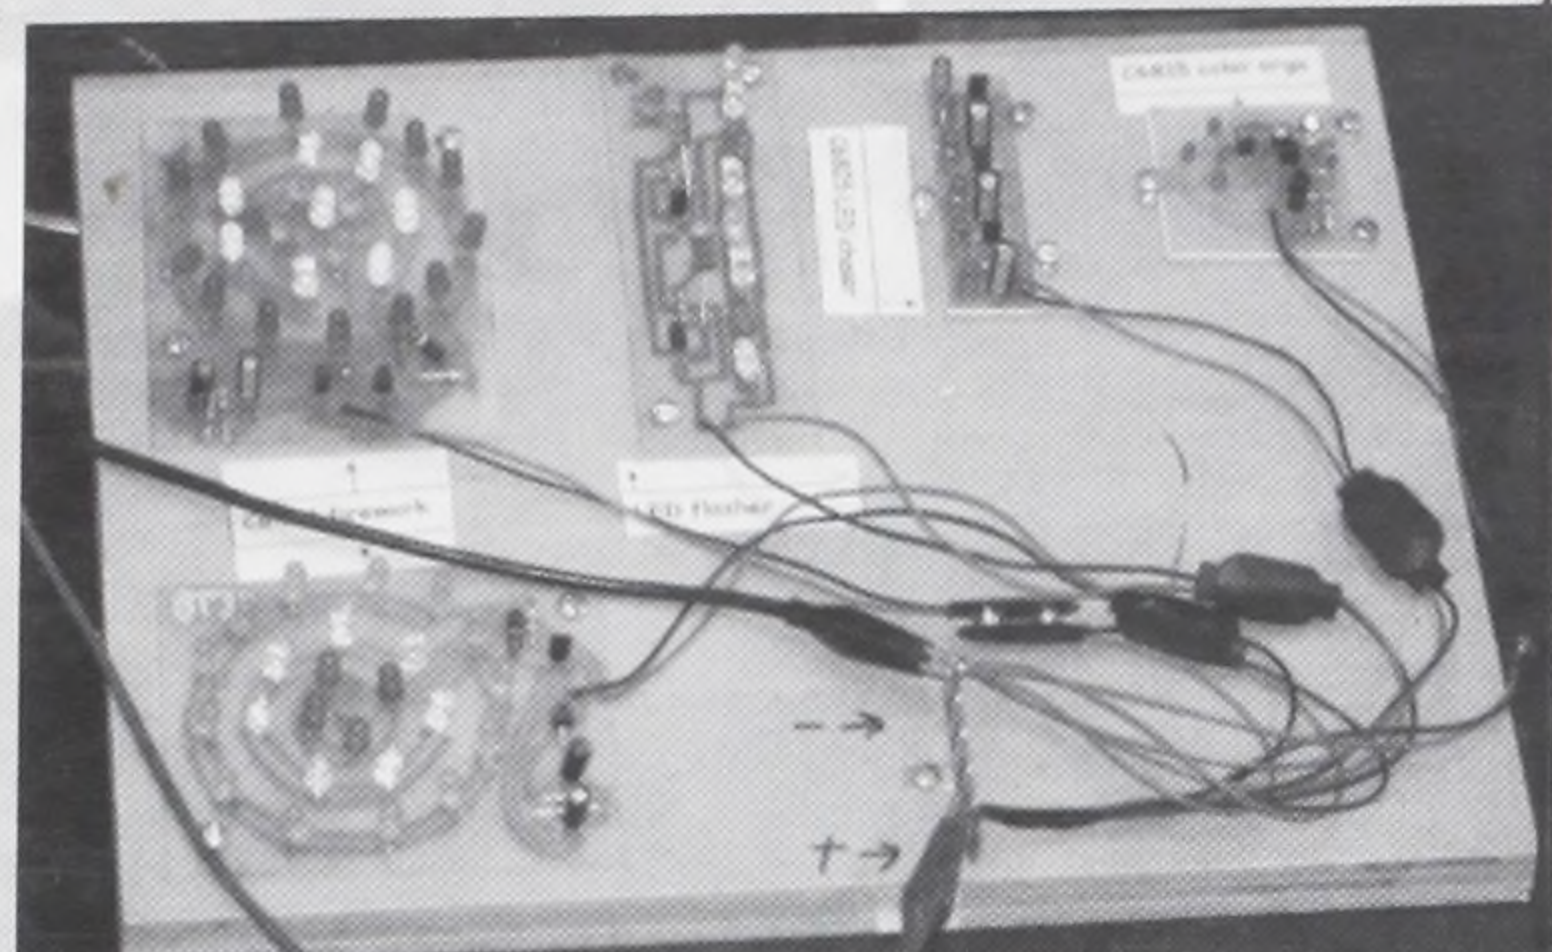

Junior work... Here, junior student is working with the SLR camera which is the one used in the communications class. This is a simple camera to operate and makes the development of the film much more easy for the students.

Hot off the press!! Senior Dan Dean is checking his pictures that he just ran through the dryer. This is the final step when developing your own pictures.

I Know What It Feels Like

I know what it feels like to be shy.
To want to talk to someone,
Only to watch that person walk by,
Because of doubts
Flowing through my head,
Taking time away from me,
Distracting me,
Confusing me.
It's like trying to kick
Open a locked door.

I know what it feels like
To beat back the shyness,
And talk to that person.
That is what motivates me,
Knowing that I can get past it,
I can talk to that person.

Sometimes
I listen to music to focus my thoughts.
I play guitar to clear my head.
I learned that talking things out
Is better than letting them build up inside.
These things help me think,
And become more confident in Myself.

Have you or someone you know appeared in the pages of the Portland Tribune?

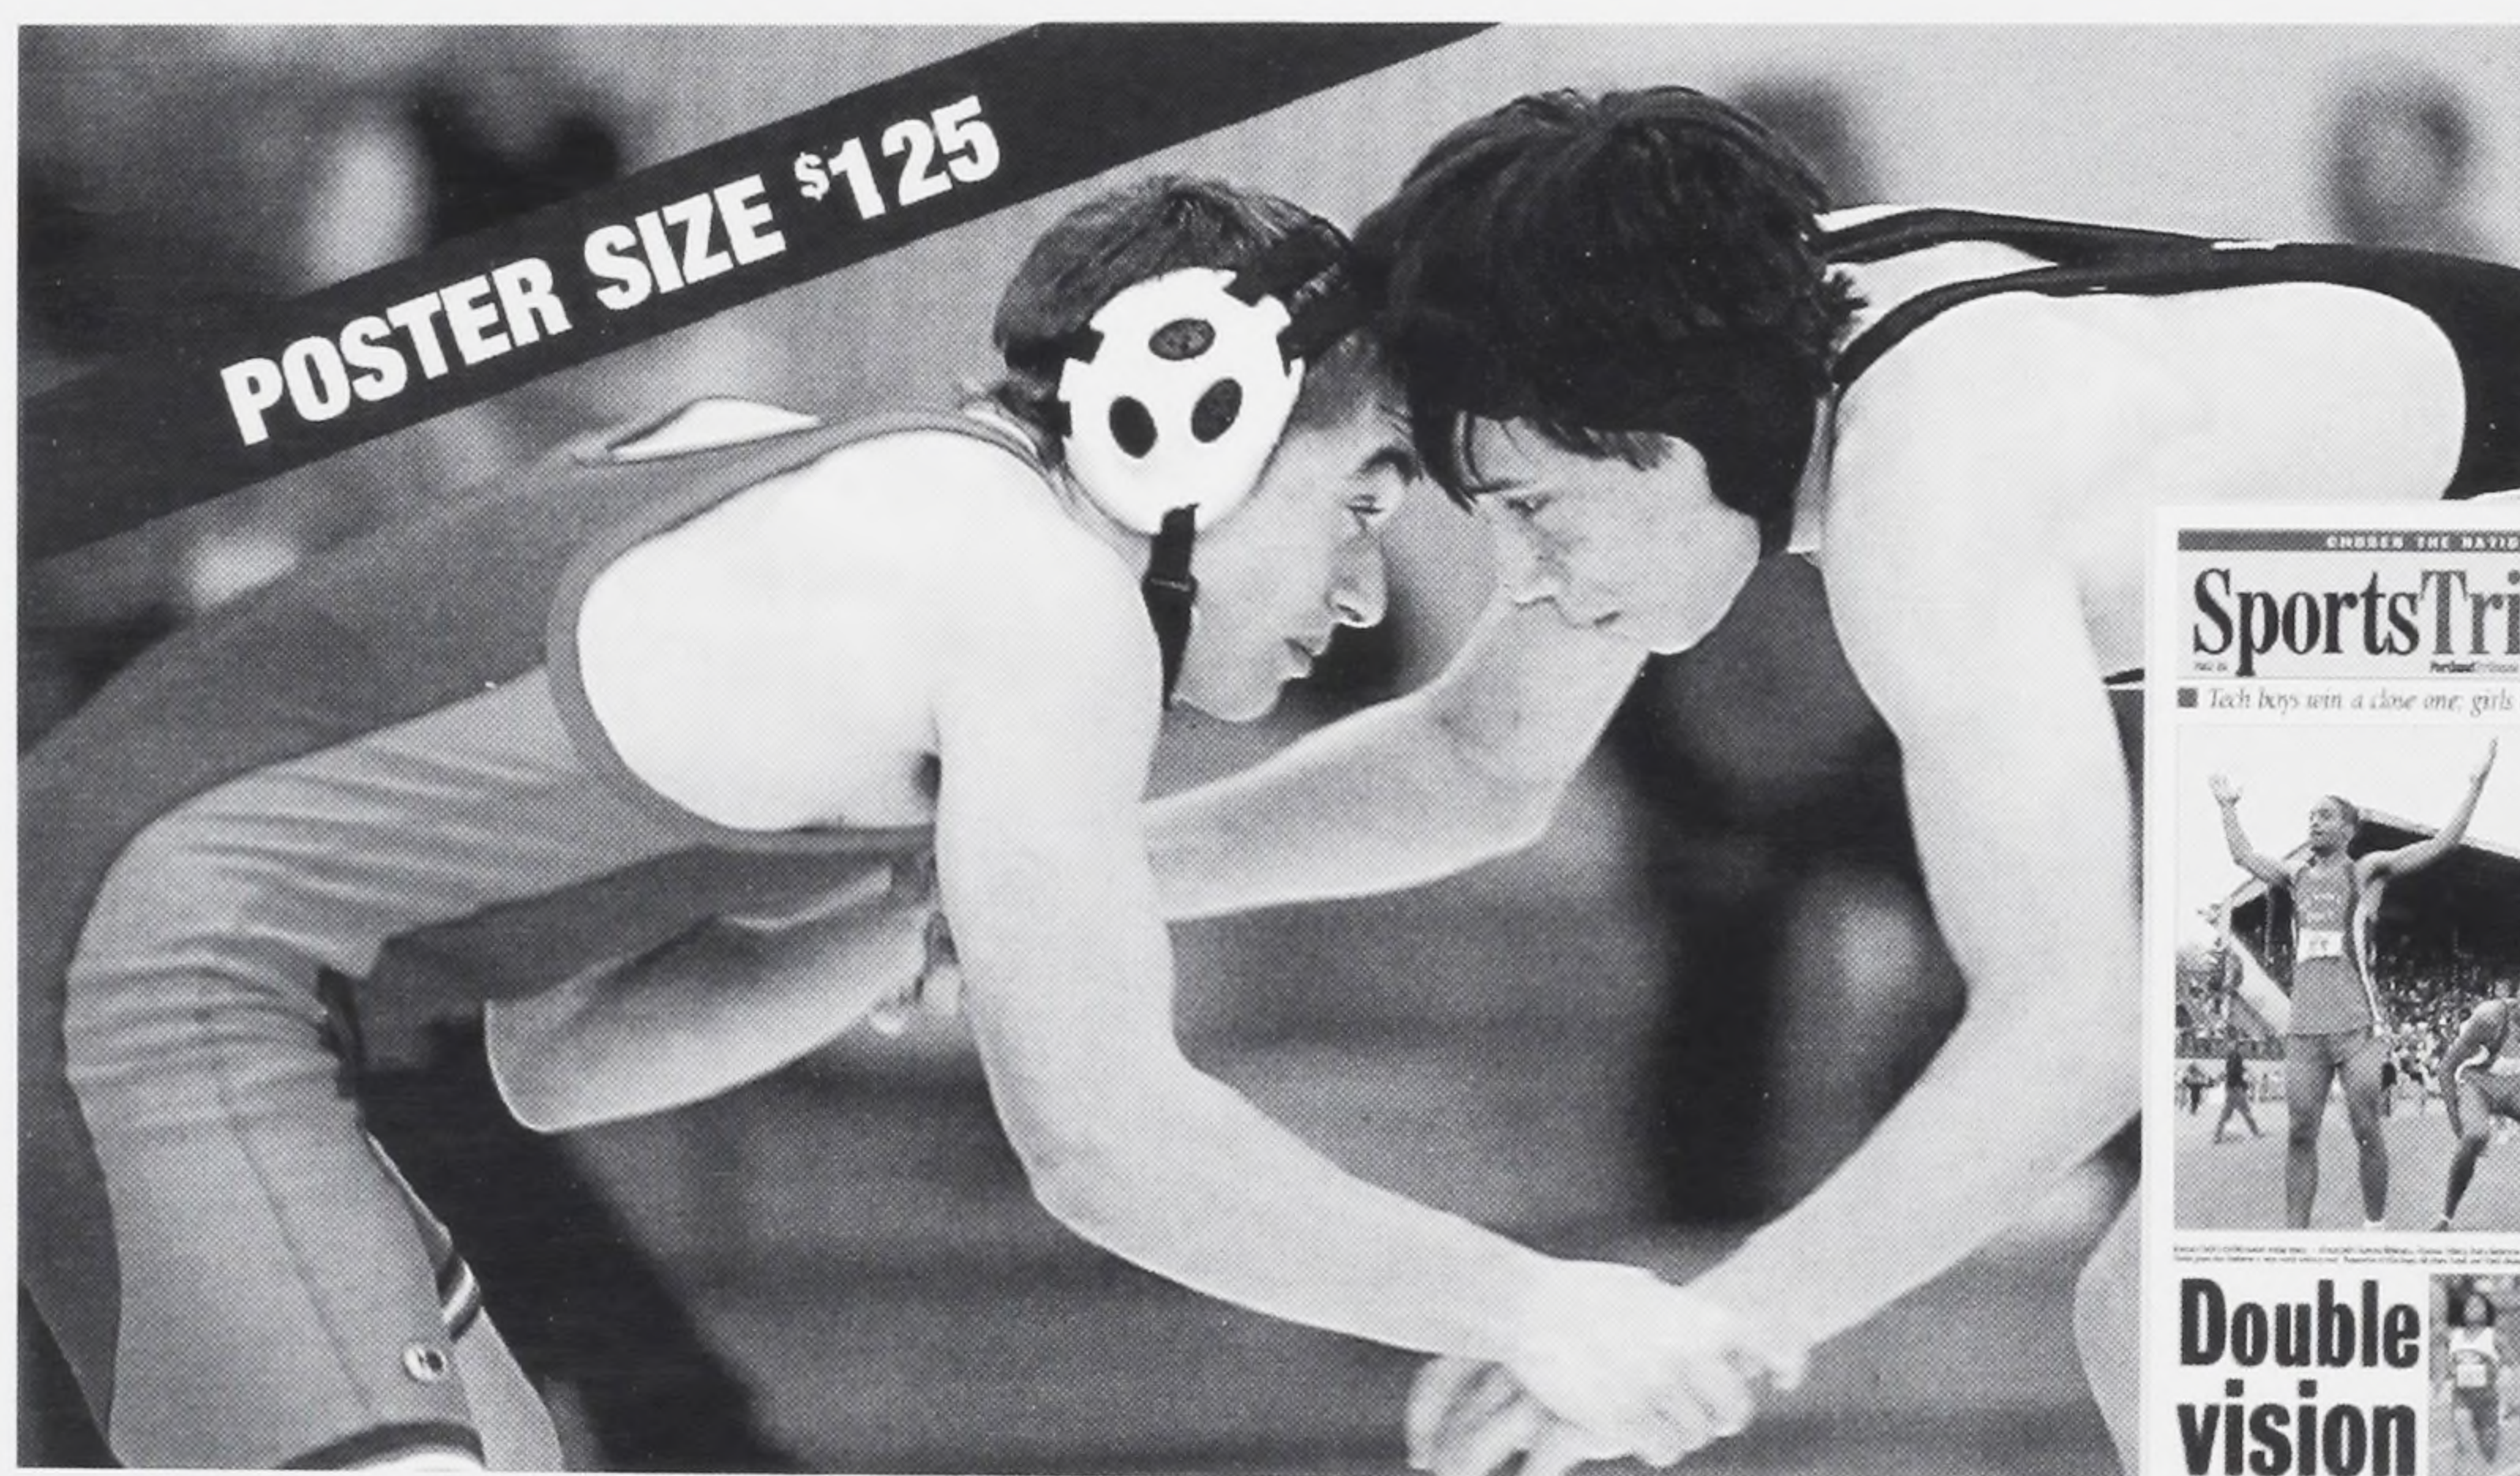

What could be better décor for your room than a poster-sized photograph that captures the joy of winning the big game? What family room couldn't use an action shot of a daughter on the court or a grandson crossing the finish line?

If someone you know plays sports for a Portland high school, a photo of them in action likely has been published in the Tribune or posted on our Web site's extensive prep sports photo gallery.

Go to www.portlandtribune.com and click on photo sales to view the selections. Reprints of any full page or photograph published in the Tribune are available for purchase.

Prices begin as low as $25. Purchases can be made online or by calling our photo sales desk, 503-546-5148, for information.
